No Re-Examination in Subjects in Which They Already Have Qualified.

TEMPORARY ARRANGEMENT FOR TUBERCULAR CASES

No Permanent Provision Can Be Made Until Congress Has Made an Appropriation.

A change in the interpretation of rules governing the appointment of ised by the board of education at a meeting in the Franklin School yester day afternoon. This followed an appeal by Fountain Peyton, a colored member of the board, in the case of his daughter. It is expected by officials of the schools that the changes will have farreaching effects.

Mr. Peyton explained that his daugh ter had successfully covered the course studies outlined in the Norma School, had graduated and been placed on the regular substitute list. She made a special study of atypical work, following which she took an ex-She made a high mark in the part of the examination covering the the subjects in which she had already been proclaimed proficient.

jects in which they had already shown themselves qualified. Supt. Ernest L. Thurston agreed with the main points Thurston agreed with the main points of Mr. Peyton's argument, with the result that the board authorized the changes to be made. This will affect procedure of methods of appointing teachers in the tuture, as heretofore no distinction was made between normal graduates and other applicants.

Segregation of Consumptives.

Supt. Thurston explained to the board eachers and other employes who, uner recent regulations made by the cipality, must be segregated from rangements would have to be made until an appropriation could be obtained from Congress to provide for permanent arrangements. The board agreed in this and turned the matter over to the rules committee. Mr. Thurston explained that no action could be taken until the schools were opened and tubercular persons ascertained.

J. F. Robb of the Piney Branch Citizens' Association appeared before the board to protest against portions of a certain school being used for tubercular children. Dr. John Van Schaick, president of the board, assured Mr. Robb tifat the board had not decided as yet upon any building or buildings. rangements would have to be made

Announcement was made that the controller of the Treasury had held that Mrs., Gladys Strong Hellman's claim for salary, amounting to $1,355.09. for the fiscal year 1915-1916, during which time she was not actually teaching in the rehools, could not be granted. Mrs. Hellman was automatically released under "rule 45" of the board at the time of her marriage. Her reinstatement was ordered by the courts. She has been reappointed, but will, by the ruling, not receive payment for the time she was out of school.

Night schools will open later than usual this year, it was noted, because of the great amount of reorganization which has to be effected. Through a
